

On new page 14 following the claims, please insert the following:

Abstract of the Disclosure

Methods, portable communication devices, and computer program products for sharing at least one media file of a portable communication device with a set of electronic communication devices include detecting a setting, by a user, of the set of electronic communication devices. The portable communication device generates at least one media file. At least a link, related to the media file, is distributed to at least the electronic communication devices of the set which were located in a region of the portable communication device, at the time of the generation of the at least one media file.